History at our footsteps

History at our footsteps, since 1858...

Distinguished Athenian Aristocrats and politicians would assemble and make important decisions for Greece just steps from here.

The Old Parliament House was founded in 1858 by Queen Amalia and is directly connected with Greek history as it was the first permanent base of the Greek National Assembly.

Until today, this building is considered as one of Athens' architectural jewels, greatly admired by visitors from near and far.

Echoes of History

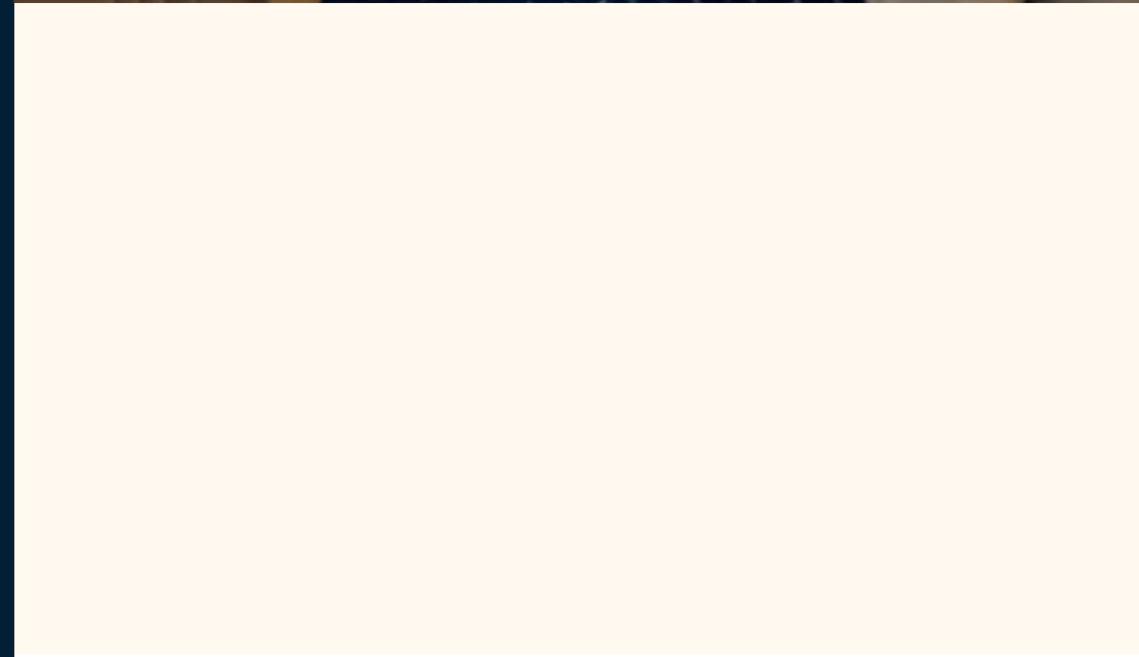

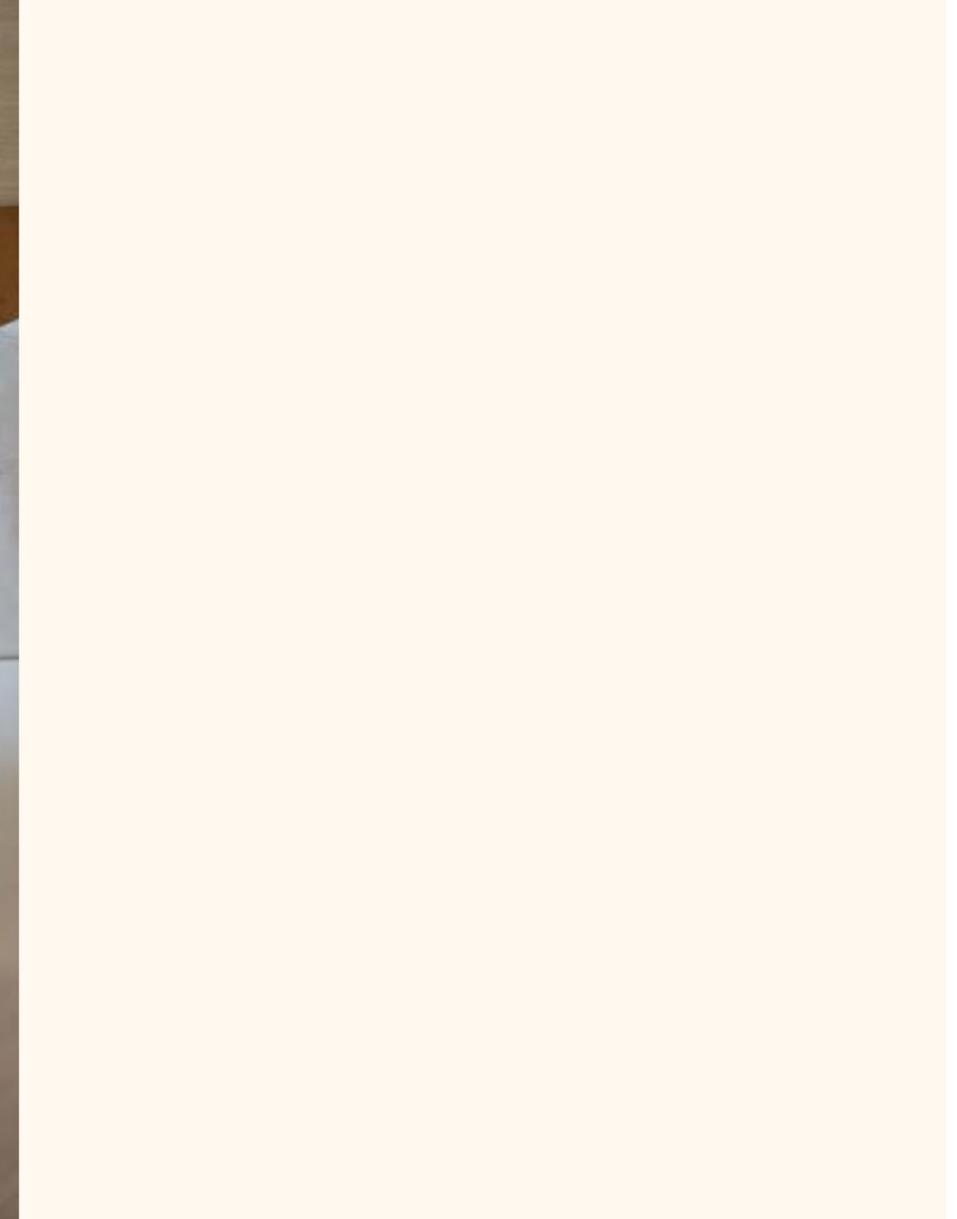

Greek heritage with a contemporary view

The first luxury boutique hotel of the world renowned Greek restaurant, estiatorio Milos, a symbol of iconic simplicity is coming to life. Located in downtown Athens, xenodocheio Milos celebrates the best of Greek heritage, art and cuisine. The architecture and design of the hotel reflects the history and grandeur of Athens.

Refined living

A reflection of "philoxenia" values, which stands for "hospitality" in Greek, in its purest and most contemporary form.

Designed with elegance and grace, xenodocheio Milos features a soothing yet vibrant ambience. Combined with the latest design lines and a blend of sophisticated décor, it is complemented by a series of handpicked personalized amenities.
